ST. MARY'S PUPILS GIVE THEIR PLAY

Annual Entertainment in Honor of Graduating Class at Mc-Sherrystown Sunday.

DIPLOMAS ARE AWARDED

Play Presented by High School Pupils Depicts Romance of Time of Civil War; Full Cast Used.

The annual entertainment by the pupils of St. Mary's High School, McSherrystown, in honor of the graduating class was held Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock in St. Mary's hall, North street, McSherrystown.

Graduating diplomas and medals were awarded to three students, namely Miss Eulalia Smith, Bernard Lawrence and Benjamin Hufnagle, for the satisfactory completion of the third year high school course, according to the requirements of the Catholic university of Washington, and also for the successful completion of the prescribed commercial course in St. Mary's High School.

Prizes were also awarded as follows, and a two-and-a-half dollar gold piece for good conduct to Theresa Cole, and a two-and-a-half dollar gold piece to Robert Lawrence for attendance, both pupils of the first year high; Waterman's fountain pens to Helen Smith, second year high, and to Clair Groft, eighth grade. The first two prizes were drawn for by a number of pupils, while the fountain pens were awarded to the best penman among the boys and among the girls as judged from papers submitted to and criticized by disinterested parties.

The play which was presented by the high school pupils Sunday is entitled "A Civil War Romance." The cast was as follows: Julian Farnsworth, captain of the U. S. Army, Richard Keffer; George Roberts, major confederate army, Charles Overbaugh; Judge Thorn, colonel confederate army, Benjamin Hufnagle; Lieutenant Forbes, U. S. army, Sarto Young; Lieutenant Wallace, U. S. army, Bernard Lawrence; Lieutenant Ellsworth, confederate army, John Weaver; "Wash," a runaway contraband, Raphael Keffer; Clara Thorne, a daughter of Judge Thorne, Miss Eulalia Smith; Kate Spencer, her companion, Miss Helen Smith; Helen Livingston, a northern girl, Miss Genevieve Niederer; privates in the brigade, Robert Lawrence, Charles Keffer, Bernard Smith, Adrian Breighner, Chauncey Smith, Bernard Lawrence, Leon Conrad, Liberatus Smith and Gerald Touper.

The first act is laid in Charles-town, South Carolina, when the news of the firing on Fort Sumter had just been heard. It is learned that Colonel Thorne fears that his daughter, Clara Thorne, will marry Julian (Continued on Fourth Page)

OFFERS $25 REWARD

Rev. Will W. Whalen Seeks Capture of Vandals Who Stole Sign on Highway.

Indignation at Buchanan Valley is said to be at fever heat, due to the work of vandals. It is reported that some person recently tore down and carried away the artistic sign erected last fall by the state highway department at Newman's hill on the Lincoln Highway to direct tourists to the White Squaw memorial statue at the Old Jesuit mission.

Rev. Will W. Whalen, who is sponsor for the statue, has offered a reward of $25 for the capture of the miscreant. "It's a good thing," said Father Whalen, "that the White Squaw is bolted at both ankles to her stone pedestal, and weighs over 500 pounds, or she would be kidnapped again by white Indians."

IMPORTANT MEETING OF LEGION POST TONIGHT

There will be a special meeting of the Albert J. Lentz Post, American Legion, at the post home on York street this evening at 7:30 to decide upon the purchase of a lot, it was announced today by Commander William G. Weaver.

C. Hugh Fee, a Scotchman, who appeared on the streets of Gettysburg today in native garb, attracting considerable attention, will be at the meeting and entertain with his bagpipe. He is a veteran of the World War.

ATTENDED COMMENCEMENT

Mrs. F. M. Grider has returned to her home here after spending several days with relatives at Woodsboro, Maryland. On Thursday evening, she attended commencement exercises of the Frederick City High School, where her nephew, John Adams, was a member of the graduating class.

General Dawes' Father Won Fame in Gettysburg Battle

Colonel Rufus R. Dawes, Parent Of Republican Nominee For Vice President, Commanded
Sixth Wisconsin Regiment in Noted Iron Brigade; Ladies of Town Helped Him Conceal Battle-Flag His Men Captured From Mississippi Unit.

Brigadier-General Charles G. Dawes, known as fighter, inherited his fighting proclivities from a fighting father, who won fame in the Battle of Gettysburg, Colonel Rufus Dawes.

General Dawes, the Republican nominee for vice president of the United States and author of the now-famous expression, "Hell an' Maria," which he uttered before one of the numerous investigating committees of Congress to emphasize a point, was a son of Colonel Rufus R. Dawes, a Lieutenant Colonel in the Civil War, commanding the Sixth Wisconsin Infantry in the Battle of Gettysburg July, 1863.

His regiment, with the 2d and 7th Wisconsin, the 24th Michigan and the 19th Indiana, composed the Iron Brigade of Wadsworth's Division, First Corps, famous in song and story.

What the regiment did that first day of the fight at Gettysburg is better described by Colonel Dawes himself in his official report, dated July 4th, 1863.

HEADQUARTERS SIXTH WIS- CONSIN VOLUNTEERS

Sir: I have the honor to report that the accompanying battle-flag of the Second Mississippi Volunteers was captured by the regiment under my command under the following circumstances:

Shortly after the action opened on the morning of July 1, the regiment was detached from the brigade and ordered to the support of the right of the line of the division, which was being outflanked and forced back by the enemy (Davis' Mississippi Brigade).

REMAINS OF DOCTOR BUEHLER ARE CREMATED IN LAKEVILLE

To Be Brought Here Later and Interred in Evergreen Cemetery;
Funeral Held Sunday.

Funeral services were held at his late home in Lakeville, Connecticut, Sunday afternoon for Dr. Huber Gray Buehler, native and former resident of Gettysburg, according to information received by his sister-in-law, Mrs. Guyan Buehler, Carlisle street. The body is being cremated and the remains will be sent here for burial in Evergreen cemetery in the near future, it is announced.

The death of Doctor Buehler, reported in this newspaper Saturday, was very sudden and resulted from heart trouble from which he had been a sufferer some years, according to the information received.

MAN KILLED BY AUTO

Details of Accident on Baltimore
Pike Sunday Lacking; Chased
to Pennsylvania Line.

Maryland state police chased an automobile from near Reisterstown, where it is reported to have run down and killed a man, to the Pennsylvania state line, below Littlestown, Sunday afternoon, where the Maryland troopers were forced to abandon the chase. Little information concerning the accident could be obtained today, except that Littlestown and Hanover authorities were informed of the accident and asked to take up the chase. The car sped off after killing the man, according to the story.

ADVERTISING WOMAN HERE

Niece of Mrs. Sallie McCullough to

ing Clubs in London.

Miss Nan Kelley, of Philadelphia, visited her aunt, Mrs. Sallie McCullough, 212 East Middle street, over the week-end.

Miss Kelley is a prominent advertising woman of the Quaker City, and will sail July 2 for London with the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World for the annual convention, afterward making an extensive tour of the other continent, visiting England, France, Switzerland and Italy late in the fall.

FARM WEATHER REPORT

on the advancing lines of the enemy, joining with the Ninety-fifth New York and the Fourteenth Brooklyn on my left. A brisk fire was opened throughout the line which soon checked the enemy and forced to take refuge in a railroad cut (at the bridge on Reynolds Avenue). I ordered a charge upon the cut. The men moved forward, well closed up and on the run. When our line reached the cut the enemy ceased firing and threw down their arms. At my demand, Major Blair, commanding the regiment in my front (The 2d Mississippi), surrendered his sword and regiment.

The battle-flag was taken before the surrender by Corporal F. Ashbury Waller, of Co. 1, and sent to the rear in charge of Sergeant William Evans, of Co. H, who was badly wounded. The sergeant was taken prisoner by the enemy and held two days in Gettysburg, but with the assistance of some ladies of the town, whose names I have not learned, he successfully concealed the colors, and finally, when the enemy retired, brought them safely to the regiment.

(Signed) R. R. DAWES,
Lieut.-Colonel, Commanding
Sixth Wisconsin Volunteers.

The remaining regiments of the brigade were engaged in the grove with Archer's Tennessee brigade that resulted in the capture of General Archer and hundreds of his men, Colonel J. K. P. Scott, Carlisle street, informs The Times.

General John F. Reynolds was killed in that hour while directing the Second Wisconsin to their position in the grove (10:15 a. m.).

JOHN CLINE IS SHOT AT AGAIN

Wound in Thumb Marks Reopening of Hostilities in Mountains to West.

Fired upon by a band of men concealed in the mountains above Smithsburg at 8 o'clock Saturday night, John C. Cline, central figure in the feud which has raged in that section at intervals for the past several months, was wounded in the hand and his automobile was riddled with gunshot. Cline has several times been warned, under penalty of death, to leave the neighborhood. He is well known here.

Cline was accompanied by his brother, Richard Cline, and drove to his farm near Wolfsville Saturday evening. The men were returning and were passing a house at the side of the road when a band of men suddenly opened fire. One of the pieces of shot struck Cline in the thumb, causing a painful wound.

According to Cline, he was unarmed at the time of the attack and made no effort to stop his automobile but continued to Smithsburg where he received treatment for his injuries and reported the matter to the authorities. Deputies Kaylor and Bowers are investigating the affair and are said to have obtained information which will lead to the arrest of at least one member of the band.

RECTOR IS TRANSFERRED

Rev. P. F. Sullivan Goes to St. Rita
Parish at Blue Ridge Summit.

Announcement has been made of the transfer of the Rev. P. F. Sullivan, for some time rector at St. Mary's Catholic Church, Fairfield, to the new parish of St. Rita, at Blue Ridge Summit. The change has already been put into effect.

Blue Ridge Summit, formerly a mission, is now made a permanent parish, and Father Sullivan's charge will include the former parish of Fairfield, he announced.

Due to the size of the territory included in his new work, Father Sullivan will have as his assistant the Rev. Paul Weaver, formerly of New Oxford, who was ordained just recently in Harrisburg by Bishop Philip R. McDevitt.

SPEEDY DRIVERS NABBED ON HILL

State Police Arrest Ten in Twenty Minutes Sunday
West of Cashtown.

Ten arrests were made in twenty minutes Sunday afternoon about two o'clock by the Gettysburg detachment of state police, under Sergeant Dahlstrom, on the Cashtown hill, for reckless automobile driving.

All were for passing other cars on the grade, ignoring the white line in the center of the road, in violation of highway laws. Information was made against all before Justice Hill this morning and they will have ten days in which to appear in Gettysburg for a hearing or pay the fines assessed against them after that time.

Those arrested, according to their license tags, were:
Alfred R. Kennedy, Pittsburgh; Elmer Mellinger, Orrtanna; John W. Brubaker, Lancaster; H. G. Stetler, Altoona; John H. Schuch, Lykens; M. W. Hill, York; S. J. and Nellie B. Keller, Hanover; Howard G. Hetrick, York; J. H. Benedict, Mechanicsburg; Elmer E. Ebersole, Littlestown.

PLAYGROUND HERE BEING IMPROVED

Will be Formally Opened Soon;
C. C. Bream, Jr., Is Caretaker This Year.

Work was started this morning to put the Kurtz Public Playground in spic and span condition in preparation for the formal opening which will take place within the next few weeks, it is announced.

C. C. Bream, Jr., has been chosen as caretaker this season and an assistant will be selected before the opening of the grounds.

The swimming pool will again be ready for the use of Gettysburg's youthful swimming population after it is drained and thoroughly cleaned out, which will require a week or ten days.

Weeds have overrun the tennis courts and the courts have been cut up some during the winter, and considerable time will be required to clear them and smooth them out. Then, with the cutting of the grass and the application of a new coat of paint to the benches and other woodwork, everything will be in readiness for the opening.

ABRAM KEPNER DIES

Abram G. Kepner, former resident of this county, died Saturday at his late home in Carlisle at the age of 51 years, 7 months, 16 days. Besides his wife, who was formerly Miss Cora Lebo, he is survived by the following children:

Mrs. Bertha Monismith, of near Carlisle; Miss Minnie Kepner, Harry, Elmer, Lee and Clarence Kepner, all at home. Also his mother, Mrs. S. A. Kepner, of this county, and the following brothers and sisters: John, of Carlisle; Mrs. Charles Sites, William Kepner and Mrs. George Shover, of Gettysburg; Robert Kepner, Roy Kepner and Miss Alice Kepner, all of Virginia Mills; and Mrs. Columbus Peters, of Arentsville.

Funeral arrangements were not made when the death was announced here.

IN JAIL FOR DRIVING HIS AUTO WHILE DRUNK

Maryland Man In Jail Charged With Crashing Into Machine At Two Taverns.

Responding to a call at 2 o'clock this morning, Sergeant Dahlstrom, in charge of the Gettysburg detachment of state troopers, arrested Samuel Alonzo Whitmore, of Woodlawn, Maryland, on a charge of driving his automobile while intoxicated and lodged him in the Adams county jail to sober up.

Sergeant Dahlstrom was called after Whitmore is alleged to have crashed into an automobile belonging to a Mr. King at 1:30 this morning as it was parked off the highway in front of a dwelling at Two Taverns.

No Respector of Traffic When He Wants to Snooze

Hanover Man, Said To Have Been Imbued With Carroll County's Famous "Hooch," Decides to Take Nap In Car That Didn't Belong To Him
In Center Of Frederick Street, Littlestown; Sheriff Shealer Tows Him To Jail.

Sheriff John C. Shealer responded to a call from Littlestown authorities Sunday afternoon and arrested Herbert Noel, of Westminster, an employee of a Hanover garage, blissfully sleeping in somebody else's automobile in the middle of Frederick street. He had not fully recovered from the influence of Westminster's famous "hooch" when the sheriff sent him his breakfast this morning.

There is a tale attached to Noel's drowsiness, to which he gave himself up completely regardless of his environment or traffic conditions on the busy motoring Sabbath. According to the story, as Sheriff Shealer got it piece-meal from Littlestown authorities and other sources, Noel, with three companions, left Hanover Saturday night for new pleasure fields to conquer in the Westminster district.

Joy reigned unconfinned until they began the return trip from Westminster Sunday afternoon, when the battle-inspiring ingredient of the Maryland "licker" began to exert its influence over the four friends and they decided to test their prowess with the bare knuckles and brawny arms.

They staged a pitched battle, as well as they could, under the circumstances, right along the public highway between Westminster and Littlestown and, when it began to get too warm for Noel, he nonchalantly stepped into the car by the side of the road which belonged to one of the others and drove off. He went right into Littlestown, with Maryland state police trailing him, but the officers were forced to turn off when Noel crossed the Pennsylvania state line. That would have been the end of it and the story might never have become known had he been able to ward off sleep long enough to pull up to the curb before going into the land of nod, instead of stopping in the middle of the street and blocking traffic and alarming the people of the community.

Noel is to be given a hearing before Justice of the Peace Hill here late this afternoon on a charge of driving a car while intoxicated, and Sheriff Shealer notified the owners of the machine to be on hand as witnesses and claim their property. The machine occupied by Noel was brought along to the jail and held.

Gettysburg Slips Into Second Place in Adams County League

Slaughter of New Oxford in Ten-Inning Struggle, Is Really Started In The Ninth Inning
When Old Reliable "Buzz" Hunter Begins A
Swat-Fest And Two Run Lead Is Overcome;
New Oxford Finishes Under Protest.

"Doc" Tate's "Battlefield Bullets" advanced within a half game of first place in the Adams county baseball league, Saturday afternoon, by defeating New Oxford in ten innings, 5-4.

Ten innings of baseball, plenty of good catches, ringing hits and a near fist fight, all for the small sum of twenty-five cents, far better than Connie Mack and his sliding Athletics can furnish at Shibe Park on a tepid Saturday, were doled out to local fans.

Until the ninth inning, New Oxford had the game in the ice box with the lid nailed shut. The score was 4 to 2 with Dewey Bucher pitching splendid ball for the visitors. "Buzz" Hunter, the Rogers Hornsby of the Adams county circuit, opened that ninth with a single to right. Then the New Oxford management decided Dewey was due for another battle-ship "Maine" blow up and yanked him in favor of Shannebrook, the pride of Bonnevilleville.

It proved a bad move. "Wib" Weikert socked one on the noodle for two bases and there were two on with none out. "Juney" Breim, who batted like a Harry Heilmann all day, grounded to Shannebrook who momentarily thought he was at a track meet, putting the shot. He heaved high over first and two men scored.

An argument over ground rules ensued, New Oxford maintaining Weikert was not allowed to score on the overthrow. During the row one irate fan, evidently having a future bout with Benny Leonard in view, tried to swing on Jack Miller, umpiring behind the plate. He was soothed, however, by the placid voice of "Whitey" Woodward and returned to the bleachers from whence he came.

The game was won in the tenth inning by successive hits from the bats of Musselman, Woodward and Hunter.

The New Oxford rooters were at the game en masse and cheered so lustily for their favorites that the grand- (Continued on Fourth Page.)

Many Swimmers Out.

Sneak thieves were at work Sunday afternoon at Marsh Creek Heights. They stole some change from Roy Zinn, former county treasurer, and also rifled the clothes of "Snapps" Emanuel, noted college athlete, who was swimming there.

While the thieves were at work, scores of people were enjoying the cool waters of Marsh Creek in front of the cottages of A. B. Plank and W. D. Gilbert. Young George Hartman gave promise of being a future helmsman in the navy by skillful manipulation of a motor boat up and down stream.

DEMOCRATS IN NEW YORK CITY

Throngs of Delegates Add to Pre-Convention Fervor and Enthusiasm.

SEN. RALSTON LOOMS UP

Friends Will Present His Name Despite Prominence of Smith and Mc-Adoo as Presidential Nominees.

(By Associated Press.)

New York, June 23.—The great quadrennial jubilee of the Democracy is passing through the final fervor of pre-convention rivalry and enthusiasm. Fifth avenue and the hotel district of Manhattan resounded today to the tramp of cheering delegations while the forces of principal candidates scurried everywhere to bring new arrivals into camp and consolidate the legions already assembled behind their favorite sons.

From a balcony on his hotel, William G. McAdoo exhorted a group of howling western delegates to stand behind him to the last ditch, and they shouted back they would.

Governor Al Smith was cheered by thousands wherever he went today.

The Indiana friends of Senator Ralston announced, after one look at the situation, that they had determined to disregard his request and place his name formally before the convention.

Meantime convention officials put the finishing touches on the Madison Square Garden to get it in condition, and prepared for the fall of the gavel tomorrow.

HEADQUARTERS FOR C. OF C. DRIVE

To Be Maintained in Lobby Of Hotel Gettysburg; Meeting
of Captains Tonight.

Secretary Henry M. Scharf, of the Gettysburg Chamber of Commerce, has announced that Hotel Gettysburg will provide a portion of the lobby to be reserved for use as campaign headquarters for the Chamber of Commerce, beginning today and being in constant use more particularly during the actual "drive" days of Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of next week. The State Chamber representative, here in connection with the campaign organization, advises that he will be at headquarters continually.

Next Monday night the get-together dinner meeting will be held at one of the hotels, at which time President Groft and Secretary Chilton, of the Waynesboro Chamber of Commerce, will be among the out-of-town speakers. It is probable that the local chamber will also be entertained by George E. Foss, secretary of the Pennsylvania state chamber, who is an expert on community problems and a forceful speaker.

A committee in charge of the arrangements, it is understood, is endeavoring to have the Citizens' Band lead the procession of campaigners marching in military formation to the dinner meeting.

If slogans being submitted daily are significant of the trend of a community's mind some people are doing their share of community thinking. The coupon upon which the slogan must be written is again printed in this issue.

Officers' Meeting Tonight

The bugle will sound the assembly call tonight at 7:45 p. m. for the assembly at Hotel Gettysburg of the captains of Battalions A and B under the command of Majors W. H. Tipton and H. H. Miller. At this meeting the aides to the captains of each company will be lined up. This meeting will be a brief smoker and "must absolutely be 100 per cent in attendance of the twelve officers to mean a successful campaign."

BRYAN BRINGS
PEACE PLANK

Is Delegate-At-Large From Florida and Supporter of McAdoo.

New York, June 23.—William Jennings Bryan, on his arrival here Sunday, announced he would attempt to have a peace plank, as well as one relating to campaign contributions,
written into the Democratic platform.
He is undecided, he said, whether to make a fight for a clear-cut declaration for prohibition enforcement, such as he waged four years ago at the San Francisco convention.

Attending the convention here as a delegate-at-large from Florida pledged to McAdoo, Mr. Bryan occupies a suite at the Waldorf-Astoria with his brother, Governor Charles W. Bryan, of Nebraska, himself a presidential candidate in the eyes of the Nebraska delegation, which is expected to vote for him at the outset of balloting.

The peace plank drafted by Mr.
Bryan would pledge the Democratic party to utilize "all its energies to the outlawing of war." It declares for participation by the United States "in a court of international justice," but makes no direct reference to the league of nations.

Mr. Bryan is expected to be Florida's representative on the resolutions committee, and in that capacity will offer his plans for incorporation in the platform.

The declaration regarding campaign contributions, Mr. Bryan said, will not be whipped into shape for a day or so.
It was indicated he was waiting to see what expression with regard to law enforcement would be favored by the platform builders before determining whether the declaration covered the prohibition question in a way satisfactory to the "dry" element in the party.

Shortly after his arrival, Mr. Bryan called on William G. McAdoo, but declined, later to discuss his visit other than to say it was a courtesy call.

CHRISTIANITY
IS STRUGGLING

Church Investigator in Europe
Says Economic Recovery
Is Slow.

Washington, June 23.—"In many places in Europe Christian institutions are sagging toward collapse.
Orphan asylums, hospitals and similar institutions are closing. There are hopeful signs of economic recovery, but the effects will be felt very slowly by the churches."

This is the latest report of Dr.
Chauncey W. Goodrich, American representative of the central bureau of the relief of the Evangelical churches of Europe, organized through the efforts of the Federal Council of Churches to help the Protestant communities of Europe recover from the war.

"Help is being given, but the needs
are appalling," according to Doctor Goodrich, who was the war pastor of the American Church at Paris. He says:

"The situation of the Protestant churches of the continent in general has grown more critical. In regions where distress is acute, many orphan asylums, hospitals and similar beneficial institutions which were then struggling for existence have since been closed, and in the homes of religious leaders the last precious keepsakes and heirlooms are being disposed of to provide the necessities of life.

"Overburdened, undernourished and preoccupied by the necessity of earning for their families and themselves their daily bread, their ministry is losing steadily in efficiency when most it is needed. And to the physical lack is added intellectual and spiritual deprivation, due to the impossibility of buying books or subscribing to reviews or journeying to conferences.

"It is true that there are hopeful signs of the economic recovery of Europe, but the effect of this will be felt very slowly by the churches. Endowments built up by Christian sacrifice of many generations and wiped out by post-war conditions cannot quickly be made good. A middle class reduced in some countries almost to starvation can only slowly gather resources and energy to 'build again

Kidnapper In Hagerstown

HAGERSTOWN.—At a late hour Friday night the police had failed to obtain any clues leading to the identity of the writer of a letter threatening the life of 7-year-old Harry Keedy, 120 East Antietam street. Police and the boy's parents are beginning to believe that the letter was the work of some demented person, or a practical joker with a peculiar idea of humor. Aside from special precautions as to watching the boy, nothing had been done Friday night. The letter was written on a torn piece of business stationery, and a letterhead had apparently been torn from it. It was written and addressed with pencil, evidently by an adult, and was crudely worded.
Though threatening to kidnap "the boy" the letter failed to state which boy was the intended victim, and Harry E. Keedy is the father of two boys, one grown, and Harry, Jr., 7.
It is presumed the smaller boy is meant. Postal inspectors and local police who are working on the case have the letter which was mailed in the Hagerstown postoffice at 4 o'clock
Monday afternoon. Demanding $3000 or the boy, it reads: "Mr.
Keedy: $3000 or the boy. RED LIGHT in upper window Tuesday night will indicate willingness to pay money orders will follow.

"BIG JOE."

ALLIES TO MEET
ON DAWES PLAN

MacDonald and Herriot Reach Tentative Agreement on Conference.

DATE IS EARLY IN JULY

Labor Premier Meets Guests in Golf Clothes and Dispenses With Formality at Dinner Before Discussion.

London, June 23.—The British Prime Minister, Ramsay MacDonald,
and M. Herriot, the French Premier, have agreed, providing there is no objection from the other Allies, that an Allied conference shall be held in London not later than mid-July for the purpose of definitely settling the procedure to be adopted for putting the Dawes report into execution.

What is possibly of still greater importance is that the two Premiers will visit Geneva together at the opening of the assembly of the League of Nations in September next.

(No British or French Premier has attended a meeting of the League of Nations assembly. Strong efforts were made to induce Premier Lloyd George to attend the first session in 1920, league officials believing his presence would add great weight to the deliberations. He prepared to go to Geneva, but suddenly canceled his arrangements without explanation.)

Foreign Office Statement

With the same measure of informality and directness that has characterized most of the doings of England's first Labor Government, the first conference in England between the British and French Premiers since the advent to power of M. Poincare, with his well-known dislike for such personal encounters, has been held at Chequers Court.

At the conclusion of this conference the following communication was issued from the Foreign Office:

"A meeting between the French and British Prime Ministers was held at Chequers Saturday and Sunday.
Friendly and informal discussions took place on several questions which arose out of the Dawes report and measures to be taken in order to put it into execution. No definite conclusion could, of course, be arrived at pending consultations with the Italian and Belgian governments.

Meeting Set For London

"The conversations revealed a general agreement between the French and British points of view and on the part of the two Prime Ministers a common determination to meet the difficulties which beset their countries and, indeed, the whole world, by continuous cooperation. It was agreed that, subject to the convenience of the other Allies, a conference should be held in London not later than the middle of July for the purpose of definitely settling the procedure to be adopted.

"The two Prime Ministers agreed to pay a brief visit to Geneva together at the opening of the assembly of the League of Nations in September next."

Formality Dispensed With

The courtly formality of old-time diplomacy was noticeably absent from the meeting. The French party arrived at Chequers Court late Saturday evening in the midst of a tropical thunderstorm. They were met at the entrance to the house by the British Prime Minister wearing a golf suit. Dinner was waiting, and without delaying to change clothes
the party sat down immediately.

McSHERRYSTOWN

McSherrystown.—Rev. Leo B.
Kirchner, assistant to Rev. Father L.
Augustus Reutter, pastor of St.
Mary's Catholic Church, has been appointed by Rt. Rev. Bishop Philip R.
McDevitt, of the Harrisburg Diocese, to take charge of Catholic parish at
urday to take up his new position, much to the regret of the people of McSherrystown. Father Kirchner has been most active while here, taking a personal interest in the young people of the town, he being the acting manager of St. Mary's baseball team.

The annual festival of the McSh-errystown Fire Company will be held at the engine house Saturday evening, June 28. The committee in charge is leaving nothing undone to make the festival a success. A good time is in store for all. It is urged that all help the firemen as they are putting forth every effort to make the event a success. With the new eighteen-foot Main street, the up-to-date La France motor truck and the up-to-date equipment of the fire company, with a membership of about 100, protection to local property, of which residents can well be proud, is given.

The third story placed on the parish residence of St. Mary's Catholic Church is now being plastered. The addition is made necessary by a third priest being stationed at St. Mary's.
Rev. Cletus Helfrich has arrived to take up his new duties as assistant at St. Mary's Catholic Church, McSh-errystown.

The building of Main street is progressing rapidly, although weather conditions are a great handicap. On Friday five men were overcome and compelled to discontinue while others continued at the hard work with picks
and shovels, doing extra grading which was made necessary because of the failure of the proper grade being made by power. Starting at the west end of Main street at the borough line, connecting with Cone-wago township, the concrete road is now laid to Farmers' Bank. The work has been supervised by a state inspector.

SLOGAN COMES FROM FRANKLIN

Franklin county is making a strong bid for that ten dollar
gold piece the Gettysburg Chamber of Commerce is offering for a slogan for the membership drive July 1, 2 and 3, which may be adopted as a permanent slogan for Gettysburg.

Here is a suggestion, to be entered in the contest, received from a prominent young professional man of Chambersburg today:

"Gettysburg Has More Than
a Battlefield."

It's a good one, but the Slogan
Editor of The Times believes that Gettysburg and Adams county people who know local conditions can beat it, if they will get their grey matter working properly.

Here is another one received in this morning's mail on the slogan coupon published elsewhere in this newspaper:

"A Community! Center Square to County Line."

That, at least, represents the policy of The Gettysburg Times and, if the judges don't accept that one, The Times may give a prize for it as representative of the spirit this newspaper aims to radiate.

The Slogan Contest is still free-for-all and does not close until next Friday, June 27.

GET BUSY NOW and send in your suggestion for a slogan.

GANGSTER SLAIN,
DAISY IN HAND

Is Latest Victim of Philadelphia
Feud Along Gold Coast.

WOMAN SOUGHT IN CASE

Mysterious "Blanche" Is Sought in New Outbreak of Old Strife; Four Murders Are Yet Unsolved.

adage to the general effect that daisies are uncommunicative.

A colored man, on his way to work
in an oil plant Sunday morning, found a dead man in Gallows lane, a short distance from Penrose Ferry road. The dead man was well dressed and about 25 years old, and there were two bullet wounds.

Also there was a single field daisy placed in his right hand, the fingers closed upon it.

Pending more definite identification from finger-print records, police are satisfied that the latest victim of a bitter gang feud, centering along the "Gold Coast," at Broad street and Columbia avenue, is Thomas F.
Boyle.

Boyle is the dapper young resident of that section who was arrested last year on a charge of being implicated in a $20,000 jewel robbery in an Atlantic City hotel. Two months ago he was released in $10,000 bail in Atlantic City and came home about the time his mother died.

He was formerly a pal of "Dutch" McClaren. About a year ago the bullet-riddled body of McClaren was found in Gallows lane also, some 300 yards above the spot at which Sunday's victim was dropped by his murderers. And in McClaren's case the gangsters "laid him out" with a folded blanket under his head and a bunch of weeds for a "funeral bou-quet" in his folded hands.

Most of the murder-squad detectives were trying Sunday to find a young woman whose first name is Blanche. She was a very good friend of Boyle, a young woman whose penchant for black clothing has earned her the name of "The Walking Widow" in the vicinity of Broad street and Columbia avenue.

Throughout the series of gang murders which started when Mike Russell was shot down as he stepped from a notorious restaurant in Eighth street above Vine 2½ years ago, there has been one woman, figuring on one side of the feud, who seemed fond of black clothes.

A woman who wore black was heartbroken when Johnny Loftus
was shot and killed outside of a saloon in Eighth street near Callowhill. The murder of Loftus followed that of Russell. The police believed that the blanket under McClaren's head indicated a woman's touch.
After his death came that of Joe Miles, one of McClaren's pals.

Then they "got" Diamond Jim" Harrington. A woman went into a cafe near Broad street and Columbia avenue and told Harrington he was wanted outside and, when he got outside, with his own pistol wrapped in the newspaper he always carried in his hand, Harrington's career was ended with a shot from the shadows across the street. Finally, six months ago, "Handsome Johnny" Ward was murdered in an automobile
in Willow street near Franklin.

Two men are in prison as a result of the McClaren murder. The rest are unsolved.

JOHN CLINE IS SHOT AT AGAIN

exhibited toward him by certain residents of the section Cline was unable to account for the shooting. He declared Sunday, however, that he knew the identity of at least one member of the band who shot at him.

The battle between Cline and Smithsburg residents has raged at intervals for many months. It is said to have had its inception when Cline purchased a tract of land and ordered the tenant on the place to vacate.
When the tenant failed to do so Cline
is said to have moved the furniture from the house to the road.

Following this Cline's home was burned, his saw mill dynamited and his property damaged in nearly a score of other ways. At the same time other residents of the section, including H. C. Russman, who had Cline arrested on a charge of shooting into his (Russman's) home in the mountains, claim that Cline has been responsible for much of the trouble.

He was acquitted on the charge of shooting into Russman's home and a charge of shooting into the home of Mrs. Birdie Toms was nonprossed.
Later Cline was arrested on a charge of carrying concealed weapons. He was acquitted of that charge.

Just recently the saw mill of Harry Simmers, Smithsburg resident and friend of Cline, was wrecked by men who broke into the plant and with hammers and stones destroyed hundreds of dollars worth of machinery.
This act is said to have been intended as a blow to Cline because of his intimacy with Simmers.

LITTLE THINGS OVERLOOKED

What a blessing that we do not all see alike. Were it not so, every man would think your wife just as handsome as his own. Then there would be no fun in love, courtship and matrimony.

Truly it has been said that variety is the spice of life. In short, variety is what causes the wheels to go around, and makes life worth living. Take variety out of it and the earth would soon be weed-growth, and the people return to savagery.

We talk about the earth growing older as the years go by. And so it is, according to the almanac, but the world is becoming newer. At least, there seems to be no end to new things, new phases of old things and old phases of new things.

Of topics worth studying there is no end, at least not in sight. The why and the wherefore of things is forever challenging us to discussion and the final outcome gives the mind a shunt from the present into the future.

The average mortal spends a lot of time looking into space, speaking to the echoes and listening for whisperings from dark mystery-land, while the earth is filled with interesting, even thrilling events, to say nothing of the curious things, and startling conditions that confront us at every step.

What a pity we are not taught to look downward to the interesting things of the earth on which we live, and not to sit and gaze into mysterious space through which an occasional meteor flits.

The average individual, young or old, has only the merest inkling of the interesting things that surround him wherever he may be. Had children been taught to look for the curious, the beautiful, the good, in nature, men would be reveling in the very heart of wonderland just now, for June-time is the effluence of the year.

YORK SPRINGS

York Springs.—Miss Edna Hershey, while attending the commencement exercises at the University of Pennsylvania, Philadelphia, was the guest of Mrs. Frank L. B. Richdale, Merchantville, New Jersey.

Rev. Vance Green, who has charge of the summer Bible school, assisted by the teachers, Mrs. Parvin Bowers, Mrs. Whitcomb and Mrs. Dora E. Smith, directed the flag march. The parade was headed by the flag carried by Walter Wolf. The tenor drums were played by H. M. Gardner and James Spelman, Sr. The drum played by Mr. Spelman was played in battles during the Civil War. Mr. Spelman is a veteran of the war and has not forgot the art of drumming. Rev. Vance Green played the bass drum effectively while Roy Spelman kept time with the cymbals. The singing was conducted by the Rev. Green, assisted by Misses Zoila Gardner and Bertha Wolf. After singing the children gave the flag salute and then proceeded back to the Methodist Episcopal Church where they were given a recess. The following children participated in the parade: Alberta Tanager, Hattie Shank, Ida Mae March, Evelyn Chronister, Anna Gardner, Kathryn Boyer, Elsie Strickler, Helen Milhimes, Mary Miller, Irene Miller, John Weigle, Charles Weigle, Glen Milhimes, Arthur Weidner, David Starry, Glen Miller, Charles Whitcomb, Harry Whitcomb.

Lions Club Organized
CHAMBERSBURG.—At a dinner held at Hotel Washington Thursday evening, the Chambersburg Lions Club was organized with the election of Edmund C. Winger as president and Paul M. Cridler as secretary-treasurer.

A number of visiting members was present at the launching of the new club, the thirty-ninth to be organized in the state of Pennsylvania. The meeting was presided over by H. M. Bird, of Harrisburg, Lions International director from Pennsylvania, who recited the history and growth of the organization since its inception in 1917 and dwelt interestingly on the principles of Lionism. The local Lions will hold noon luncheon meetings, the frequency of which by the new club will be decided at the first business meeting, scheduled for June 27 at Hotel Washington. The local Lions Club has a membership of twenty-two of the younger business and professional men, who were interested in the movement by Organizer William Verrier, of Lancaster. The charter membership to date is composed of the following men: C. Huber Blocher, O. J. Brunell, D. Holland Speer, A. J. McGeehe, W. G. Shoemaker, Paul M. Cridler, W. Hastie Derbyshire, W. Owen Zacharias, Joseph L. Kalbach, H. A. Wolf, Dr. G. L. Cassel, Chambers McChaffey, Edwin F. Snider, Edmund C. Winger, H. S. Foltz, John McD. Sharpe, Dr. Theodore Peters, R. Kriebbaum, Milton G. McDowell, Seibert D. Eberly and Barclay G. Orr.

Heat Makes Arguments
CHAMBERSBURG.—Hot weather with its consequent strain on the human temper is believed by Magistrate Miller to be the cause of the unusual number of minor cases which have been brought into his court within the past few days. Assault and battery cases head the list, some of which were prosecuted and others, on the advice of the magistrates, were not followed up by legal action. Most of the complaints, said the magistrate, showed that the principals to the cases had become impatient and had lost their tempers over practically nothing.

Coal Train Derailed
CHAMBERSBURG.—Three coal cars of an east bound freight train on the P. E. R. were derailed at 6.15 Friday morning near Kauffman's Station when an arch bar, between the tracks of one car, broke. Coal was spilled for some distance along the railroad tracks and eastbound traffic was diverted to the westbound tracks until 11 o'clock Friday morning when the wreckage was cleared away.

"Let us talk about ourselves," he whispered.

Presently they saw Sir Timothy's Rolls-Royce glide up to the front door below and Sir Timothy himself enter the house, followed by another man whose appearance was somehow familiar.

There was a knock at the door. Hedges made his diffident appearance.

"I beg your pardon, sir," he began, addressing Francis. "Sir Timothy has been asking if you are still here. He would be very glad if you could spare him a moment in the library."

Francis rose at once to his feet.

"I was just leaving," he said. "I will look in at the library and see Sir Timothy on my way out."

Sir Timothy was standing upon the hearth of the very wonderful apartment which he called his library.

"You asked for me, Sir Timothy," Francis said.

Sir Timothy smiled.

"I was fortunate to find that you had not left," he answered. "I want you to be present at this forthcoming interview. You are to a certain extent in the game. I thought it might amuse you."

Francis for the first time was aware that his host was not alone. The room, with its odd splashes of light, was full of shadows, and he saw now that in an easy-chair a little distance away from Sir Timothy, a girl was seated. Behind her, still standing, with his hat in his hand, was a man. Francis recognized them both with surprise.

"Miss Hyslop!" he exclaimed. She nodded a little defiantly. Sir Timothy smiled.

"Ah!" he said. "You know the young lady, without a doubt. Mr. Shopland, your condutor in various works of philanthropy, you recognize, of course? I do not mind confessing to you, Ledsam, that I am very much afraid of Mr. Shopland. I am not at all sure that he has not a warrant for my arrest in his pocket."

The detective came a little further into the light. He was attired in an ill-fitting dinner suit, a soft-fronted shirt of unplesant design, a collar of the wrong shape, and a badly arranged tie. He seemed, nevertheless, very pleased with himself.

"I came on here, Mr. Ledsam, at Sir Timothy's desire," he said. "I should like you to understand," he added, with a covert glance of warning, "that I have been devoting every effort, during the last few days, to the discovery of your friend's brother, Mr. Reginald Wilmore."

"I am very glad to hear it," Francis replied shortly. "The boy's brother is one of my greatest friends."

"I have come to the conclusion," the detective pronounced, "that the young man has been abducted, and is being detained at The Walled House against his will for some illegal purpose."

"In other respects," Sir Timothy said, stretching out his hand toward a cedar-wood box of cigarettes and selecting one, "this man seems quite sane. I have watched him very closely on the way here, but I could see no signs of mental aberration. I do not think, at any rate, that he is dangerous."

"Sir Timothy," Shopland explained, with some anger in his tone, "declines to take me seriously. I can of course apply for a search warrant, as I shall do, but it occurred to me to be one of those cases which could be better dealt with, up to a certain point, without recourse to the extremities of the law."

Sir Timothy, who had lit his cigarette, presented a wholly undisturbed front.

"What I cannot quite understand," he said, "is the exact meaning of that word 'abduction.' Why should I be suspected of forcibly removing a harmless and worthy young man from his regular avocation, and, as you term it, abducting him, which I presume means keeping him bound and gagged and imprisoned? I do not eat young men. I do not even care for the society of young men. I am not naturally a gregarious person, but I think I would go so far," he added, with a bow toward Miss Hyslop, "as to say that I prefer the society of young women. Satisfy my curiosity, therefore, I beg of you. For what reason do you suppose that I have been concerned in the disappearance of this Mr. Reginald Wilmore?"

Francis opened his lips, but Shopland, with a warning glance, intervened.

"I work sometimes as a private person, sir," he said, "but it is not to be forgotten that I am an officer of the law. It is not for us to state motives or even to afford explanations for our behavior. I have watched your house at Hatch End, Sir Timothy, and I have come to the conclusion that unless you are willing to discuss this matter with me in a different spirit, I am justified in asking the magistrates for a search warrant."

Sir Timothy sighed.

"Mr. Ledsam," he said, "I think, after all, that yours is the most interesting end of this espionage business. It is you who search for motives, is it not, and pass them on to our more automatic friend, who does the rest. May I ask, have you supplied the motive in the present case?"

"I have failed to discover any motive at all for Reginald Wilmore's disappearance," Francis admitted, "nor have I at any time been able to connect you with it. Mr. Shopland's efforts, however, although he has not seen well to take me into his entire confidence, have my warmest approval and sympathy. Although I have accepted your very generous hospitality, Sir Timothy, I think there has been no misunderstanding between us on this matter."

"Most correct," Sir Timothy murmured. "The trouble seems to be, so far as I am concerned, that no one will tell me exactly what I am suspected of. I am to give Mr. Shopland the run of my house, or he will make his appearance in the magistrate's court and the evening papers will have placards with marvelous headlines at my expense. How will it run, Mr. Shopland—"

"MYSTERIOUS DISAPPEARANCE OF A YOUNG GENTLEMAN, MILLIONAIRE'S HOUSE TO BE SEARCHED."

"We do not necessarily acquiesce in your procedure," Shopland rejoined.

stand was just as quiet as the Baldwin locomotive works during a rush hour. In fact, John Hartman, former sheriff, who braved plenty of shot and shell in France, was forced to retreat to a more secluded spot.

Even "Eddie" Plank, hero of many an American League battle, said the Philadelphia rooters were extremely quiet compared to the New Oxfordites.

Todd, the little center fielder from New Oxford, starred for his team with a great running catch off Woodward and three hits in five trips to the plate. As has been said, Bucher, who heaves the knuckle ball a la Eddie Rommel, pitched splendidly during his stay in the box.

Gettysburg's youthful hurler, "Jimmy" Tennant, was effective throughout, allowing but five hits and fanning ten. The first run off him was a fluke homer, the ball being lost in the grass. "Whitey" Woodward, ordinarily a good noh shooter, made two miscues in the second inning, yielding two New Oxford tallies.

Musselman, Hunter and Bream were the heavy men on the offensive for the fast going "Bullets." Line up:

ARENDTSTOWN WINS

SECOND OF A SERIES

Arendtstown's baseball sluggers took the second game of a series from Biglerville, in the Adams County League, Saturday afternoon, at Arendtstown, by the score of 4 to 3, but it required 13 innings to turn the trick. Biglerville's nine went into the game with the determination of retrieving the defeat of a week previous on the Biglerville grounds when Arendtstown trounced their ancient rivals in much handier fashion by the score of 5 to 0.

The game Saturday was replete with thrills and provided plenty of excitement for the large crowd of fans. The outstanding feature of the game the previous Saturday was the pitching of Jack Kane, for Arendtstown, when he allowed only three Biglerville batters to reach first base.

The box score of these two games will appear in this newspaper tomorrow.

Farnsworth, captain in the U. S. army, whom he denounces as a northern spy. The second act is in a military camp at a later time, Farnsworth hears of the capture of Colonel Thorne and that Clare has fallen into the hands of Major Roberts and that she is to be forced into marriage with him. By means of disguise as a justice of the peace, Farnsworth is able to upset Major Roberts' plan. The two latter acts also take place in a military camp. The affairs of the participating characters become more complicated in the third act and work out to a satisfactory conclusion in the last one.

The orchestra which assisted in the entertainment was composed of the following members: Pianist, Miss Ima Topper, Misses Bernadette and Violet Weaver, Verna Topper and Cosma Smith. The program opened with an overture, followed by "Morn Rise," high school pupils, and a selection by the orchestra. After the play a drill was given by the high school pupils, who also sang "Gently Down the Stream of Time." An address by the Rev. Dr. L. Augustus Reudter, pastor, was then made.

The first and second year high school pupils are as follows: Second year—John Weaver, Charles Overbaugh, Richard Keffer, Sarto Young, Raphael Keffer, Helen Smith, Verna Topper, Frances Burke, Gladys Stahl, Regina Lawrence, Mable Ackerman, Genevieve Niederer, Regina Belz, Mary Burke, Josephine Smith, Elsie Poist, Marie Hemler and Lorraine Leonard; first year—Robert Lawrence, Bernard Lawrence, Charles Keffer, Leon Conrad, Chauncey Smith, Bernard Smith, John Rutters, Emma Burke, Rebecca Hemler, Richard Lawrence, Libertus Smith, Norman Overbaugh, Gerald Topper, Adrian Breighner, Estella Poist, Arlean Staub, Mary Nicholson, Anita Ackerman, Marguerite Hoffman, Mildred Smith, Audrey Stahl, Theresa Rider and Clara Horwedel.

SATURDAY'S SCHEDULE

Hanover at Littlestown.
McSherrystown at New Oxford.
Gettysburg at Biglerville.
Arendtsville at Midway.

The baseball games in the Adams County League Saturday were somewhat contrary to the advance predictions, as McSherrystown and Midway had runaway victories over Littlestown and Hanover, while Arendtsville nosed out Biglerville 4 to 3 and Gettysburg defeated New Oxford in extra innings by a 5 to 4 score. Littlestown proved a weak sister against McSherrystown, who shut-out the tail-enders 15 to 0, and Midway took the scalp of the Hanover Red Men by a 15 to 9 score. The Gettysburg game was played by New Oxford, in the final innings, under protest. The box scores of all the games will appear in The Times Tuesday.

Mercury Goes To 97
HAGERSTOWN—While the official thermometer at Keedysville registered 97 degrees between three and four o'clock Friday afternoon in Hagerstown the mercury boosted by reflected rays from brick pavements and buildings went even higher and marked it the hottest day of the year. The official temperature was just one degree lower than that registered the same date last year but the unofficial temperature was about 115 according to the thermometers of human beings. The excessive stickiness of the heat is due to the heavy rains and moisture in the ground, J. A. Miller, weather observer at Keedysville, said. Humanity sweltered during the preceding night too, when 70 was the lowest registered, with very little breeze to give any relief. The Weather Man promises some surcease from the torrid atmosphere, however, by the prediction of slightly cooler weather.

Don't blame Larry. He's hiding out with a real Orange-Crush. Here are six reasons why Orange-Crush is so utterly delicious: (1) The natural fruit oil of oranges—for that delicate and delightful flavor; (2) The natural acid of citrus fruits (oranges, lemons and limes)—to give the tang; (3) Orange juice—which everybody likes; (4) Carbonated water—for "zip," sparkle, purity; (5) U. NOTICE

In the Orphans' Court of Adams county, Pennsylvania.

In re: Estate of R. P. Feiser, late of East Berlin Borough, Adams county, Pennsylvania, deceased.

Notice is hereby given that Fannie V. Feiser, surviving spouse of the said R. P. Feiser, deceased, demanded the sum of five thousand dollars ($5000.00), under the provisions of the Interstate Act of June 7th, 1917, and that Fannie V. Feiser, surviving spouse of said decedent, filed in said Court an inventory and appraisal of the real estate elected to be retained by said surviving spouse, consisting of two tracts situate in Reading township, Adams county, Pa., and which was appraised at $10,000, and that the said farm cannot be divided without prejudice to or spoiling the whole of said farm, and the general appraisers appraised and set apart $5000 of the valuation of said farm or Fannie V. Feiser and on June 2nd, 1924, the Court made an order that upon confirmation absolute of said farm to Fannie V. Feiser, her heirs and assigns, conditioned that within one year she or her personal representative pay to L. F. Feiser, administrator of the estate of R. P. Feiser, the sum of $5000, the excess of the appraised value of the said real estate over and above the amount claimed by her therefrom, and will be approved and confirmed without further order unless exceptions be filed thereto before July 12th, 1924.

CAMPHOR AND HYDRASTIS FINE FOR SORE EYES

It is surprising how QUICK eye inflammation is helped by camphor, hydrastis, witchhazel, etc., as mixed in Lavoptik eye wash. One lady whose eyes were weak and watery for three years was helped AT ONCE. Another case of red, inflamed eyes was also benefited. One small bottle Lavoptik usually helps ANY CASE sore, weak or inflamed eyes. Aluminum eye cup FREE. The News-stand Drug Store.

Buying Clothes is our Special Job

Every community is a group of mutually helpful specialists. Doctors care for the health of all, lawyers for the legal rights, craftsmen for the shelter, the comfort.

Our part, as we see it, is to buy clothes for others; we're expert at it; we have the facilities; we know what's what.

You'll always find us trying to do our job well.

One of

Gettysburg's Influential Men

came to us the other day with a very strange request. His son—16—is now home for his vacation. The Father asked us if his boy could work here for two weeks during his vacation at no salary. We were surprised.

He explained—
"I want my son to have a keen sense of Fair Values and Fair Dealing—and I feel that he can get more education along these lines in your store in two weeks than he could gather in a school room in two years."

To this fine compliment we simply add—

Morality, when vigorously alive, sees further than intellect, and provides unconsciously for intellectual difficulties.

Every mind was made for growth, for knowledge, and its nature is sinned against when it is doomed to ignorance.
